

It was over 35 years ago that Bruce Steinfeld founded Bit by Bit, setting up shop in his tiny studio in the West Village of New York City. Starting with a handful of custom programming clients, Bit by Bit now is now a leading Managed Services provider with a cadre of 50+ sales, management, marketing, administrative, and tech support staff.

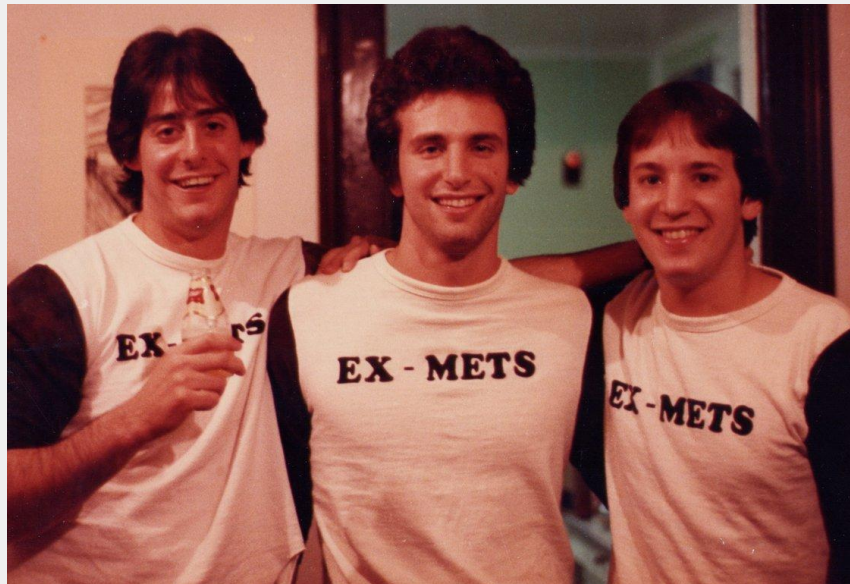

Thanks to our many exceptional clients and dedicated employees from around the world, we continue to explore the edge of technology - from cybersecurity and managed services to application development, enterprise fax, and cloud services to provide on-site, in-office, remote, and hybrid IT solutions to businesses of all shapes and sizes.

Let's Celebrate!

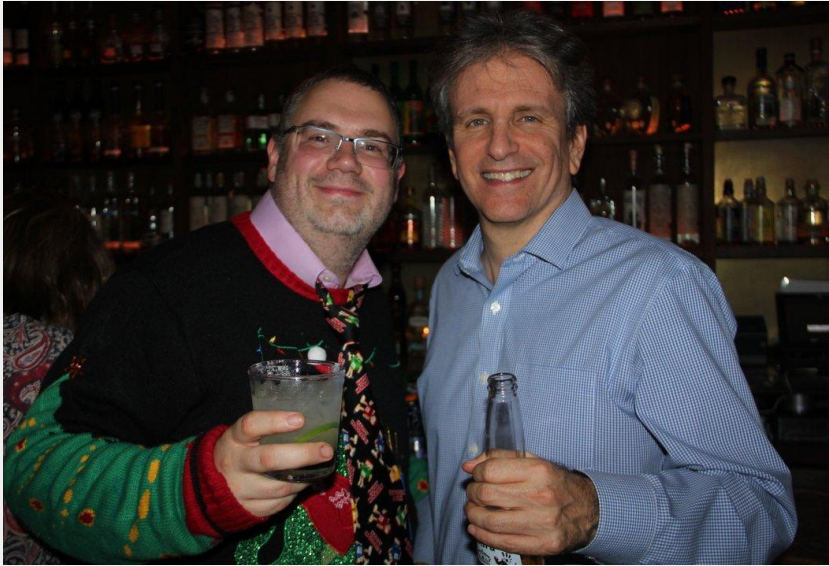

In 2020, Bit by Bit lost our friend and colleague Christian Pena to COVID-19.

Thank You for 35 Great Years!
